

BRITISH GUYANA 10 y.o. Cask Strength

Appearance    Deep amber.

Nose            Very alcoholic, but with an intense winery note from the sherry casks. Coffee, red cherries, orange peel, aromas of spices, fragrant wood and a touch of leather, and raw cane sugar.

Palate           Dry, very winery and with a heavy presence of astringent tannins from oloroso sherry. Blueberries and all types of red fruits, orange juice, and a hint of toasted/burnt sugar (crème brûlée).

Finish            Very dry, getting even more tannic, peppery and with the sherry astringency that almost becomes rowdy.

Comment        Compared to the usual very sweet Demerara rums, this cask strength release - a blend of distillates from three different stills (French Savalle, wooden Coffey, double wooden pot) - is winery and dry, meant for lovers of austere styles.
